

Engineering

The engineering (technology), apart from production, is the cornerstone of hsp GmbH & Co.KG. The complexity of the steel structure, along with its related installations (devices), such as roller carriers, turning tables, robots and their components is increasingly growing, reason for which within the last years we have invested in this field.

We support you starting with the planning phase of a project until the completion of the entire system. We have access to different CAD/CAM systems, which are used in the automobile industry, as well as in the installation engineering and construction (MicroStation Bentley, TRICAD, HLS).

Moreover, we can prepare samples until the verification of the interference (collision) cut-out, which substantially reduces the building time.
